

DAISYWEEN

written by James Burke and illustrated by YOU!

Daisy sat puzzled
Atop a small pumpkin
Her eyebrows were fuzzled
Her brain busy thunkin'

"I haven't a costume,
Not a nothing to wear!
No witches hat nor broom
And no time to spare

Daisyween's next week!
It's time to get sorted -
An idea so unique
Then, get supplies ordered"

Her brain bees got busy
Thinking up thoughts
So fast she felt dizzy
With designs of all sorts

And here's that collection
Of potential creations
Up for selection from these Conceptualizations

It's hard to make sense here
These thoughts seem plain crazy
But all will become clear
The more you think like Daisy...

"Should I be..."

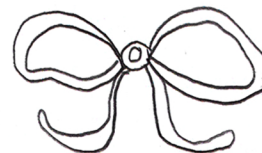

Now we have to pick one!

So, I'll leave you to choose
The costume that's most fun
And the rest we can use for 3 decades to come...

Happy Daisyween
Goodly Tricks, Sweetly Treats,
Sugar fueled memories
Of character filled streets.
